

THE AMELIA DOUGLAS GALLERY PRESENTS

10168

I see between the worlds...

Grandmother Guardian Chant
We watch
We wait
We welcome
We weave
Whey O Whey O

Agents of Transformation: Reclaiming the Power of Grandmothers

Artwork by Elizabeth Carefoot Poetry by Virginia Gillespie

September 16 – November 1, 2010

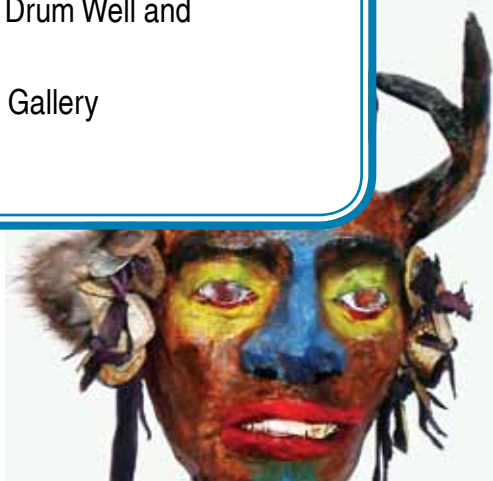

Opening Reception September 16, 4:30-7:30pm

Featuring Drumming and Dance by the Drum Well and Victoria Oginski, 6:45pm

Artists' Talk September 17, 10am in the Gallery

Elemental air - Virginia Gillespie
I pause to inhale the blue of salubrious mid-morning firmament, arms stretched upwards like verdant birch branches reaching to caress the cleanness of it.

This is original home pristine, expansive.
The blue of elemental air.
Robe of Father Sky
near, potent, accessible within, without, alive.

happen here the arts happen here the arts happen here the arts happen here the arts happen here here the arts happen here the arts happen here the arts happen here the arts happen here the arts the arts happen here the arts happen here the arts happen here the arts happen here the arts hap

Douglas College

Amelia Douglas Gallery

Fourth Floor North, Douglas College 700 Royal Avenue, New Westminster.

One block from New Westminster SkyTrain Station.

Gallery Hours:

Monday to Friday 10am-7:30pm
Saturday 11am-4pm Closed Sunday
Admission is always free

Information: Call 604-527-5723

douglascollege.ca