

is pleased to present its
PROFESSIONAL BASKETBALL ACADEMY
Fall 2010

About the Academy

The Douglas College Basketball academy has been providing instruction and coaching to Lower Mainland youth for over 10 years. The focus of the academy will be on FUN and FUNdamentals with players learning a variety of skills – everything from shooting, dribbling, passing, defense, rebounding and 1 on 1 moves. Players will be split by age and skill level. Each week will have a Skill of the Day, as well as a variety of games for participants to test their skills and meet new friends.

Program Director

The Academy will be under the supervision of Head Coach David Munro. As a player, Munro was a two-time member of the Canadian National Team playing alongside Steve Nash. He finished his playing career at Simon Fraser University in 1994 at which time he was the schools all-time leader in assists and three pointers. He was an apprentice coach with the National Team program from 2000-2004 under current Toronto Raptors Coach Jay Triano. He was the Mens Basketball Coach at Douglas College from 1996-2004, and also worked six years for the NBA's Vancouver Grizzlies in the Basketball Operations department.
